

Dear All,

(update - In this Announcement, one of my key points is that in my current personal status, I won't want to deal with any females in the categories listed in the email below, this is totally fine when taking my culture, education and personal backgrounds into consideration. I believe a lot of people in the very similar circumstance as that of mine would agree with me. No further explanation on this.

In the email below I have some important statements, they roughly mean that I do want to be married, but only under the condition to be able to have my own child, to have my own next generation, and this could only be done with the suitable female not elder than 40 years old, the safety age zone for a female to have her child. Sorry if my statement offends anyone of you. I don't know how to be more politically, subtly to address this point of mine. To make my point clear, not confused, it is best for me to address it directly. If not having this kind of luck, I'd rather to be a single, never-married male for the rest of my life. Some people might consider what a naive, foolish person I'm, while public opinion doesn't bother me. it is my own business, not anyone else.

When my mother was still alive, nearly at the ending stage of her life, she thought that I might chose to be a single, being unmarried for the rest of my life, and she was quite right in some sense. As a mother, I think she understood that being too late to become married, if no luck to have own child when being in a marriage relationship, the marriage won't be a stable, good one, so for an independent individual, with strong character and personality, it isn't a bad choice to be a single, being unmarried for the rest of the life.

As addressed in above, I do want to be married with the suitable female, but under the condition to be able to have our own child, this is the must to have criteria. This shows that I'm still a optimistic person, with hope for the future. While my mother might be more realistic, but with hope, being optimistic should be the better attitude for the people still alive, and I call this as the spiritual life.

```
if (she is suitable && she is <= 40 years old && being able to have our own child && I have this kind of luck) {
    System.out.println("I will chose to be married :-)");
} else {
    System.out.println("I will chose to be a single, being unmarried for the rest of my life");
}
```

(update again- I have been emphasizing many times before that as a never married Chinese single male, I have no interests with any females - married, divorced, widowed, attached, partnered, in relationship, or with disability etc. If any of these females harassed me, spread rumors about me, defame me that I had ever had relationship with them or interested with them, I will sue them, disclose their nasty behavior to the public. Apart from the above mentioned, any females are short, over weight, too shin, with poor sexuality, not healthy enough to have own baby, over 40 years old (40+ years old females have safety issue to have own baby, while this isn't applied to the males even a lot older. this is the very popular, simple medical knowledge), too young, not attractive, or don't have good personal, family and education backgrounds, don't try to approach me.

This is nothing about discrimination, while it is the right, sensible and understandable thing for me to do, under my current personal status. If anyone tries to exaggerate this (please don't take this as a chance to defame me that I'm not good at socializing, nonsense, I don't have obligation to be socialized with these people, to waste my valuable time, I don't know who you're, have no interests to know you. If you're lonely, feel helpless, Church is one of the places you can go, there are a lot of Church-centered people there who're willing to spend a lot of their time with you), you're wasting of your time. I will forward this Announcement to the public again and again when I notify any of these mentioned females intending to make a offense.

I don't want to deal with the males who're silly, ignorant, with simple/disordered/abnormal/)

(Announcement update - as stated in many of my previous emails, including the ones below, in my current never-married personal status and from the perspective of my Chinese culture background, I have no interest with any of those females mentioned in my emails. Another very important principle for me is that it is no-no for me to build any personal relationship with any of my female flatmates (actually I have no interest with any of them and looked down upon some of them for many reasons, not just due to their marriage status, age, education, family, profession and backgrounds etc., while actually it is that some of them have been trying to seduce me and this makes me even more despise them), even though they're the never married singles. As property owner operating a small renting business (and at the same time is independently building my own ICT business) and living together with a few flatmates, I only aim to economically/financially maximize the ROI of my property renting business, however sometimes some female flatmates have their own personal expectation (either initiated by themselves or instigated by other people), but I don't have any intention at all as that of theirs, while there is only flatmate relationship between me and my flatmates, and I only allow this kind of relationship (flatmates relationship and this is only for economy purpose) between me and my flatmates. However the male flatmates and other external people may conspire with and instigate these female flatmates to approach me for their own advantages, but I will not fall into their trick. Some people consider that I want to have my own children, YES I do, but I don't need anyone make any arrangement for me, while I will make my own plan by myself. This is my own business, not anyone else, other people please don't get involved. These people are not helping me, while they want to take advantages from me, otherwise they wouldn't have willfully spread rumors about me that I change my history, without China & NZ professional working experiences, not born & grew up in Beijing, China, no excellent education, no good personal and family backgrounds, unhealthy, violent etc. In fact I'm a lot better than these people in these aspects. Just FYI)

I sent you similar announcement as blow for many times in the past. I want to emphasize here again that as a never married, principled single Chinese male, I have no interest with any married, divorced, widowed or attached etc females. However when some of these females who're interested in me identified that I had no interest with them at all, they started to hate me, to revenge me, to spread rumors around that I'm interested in them instead to prevent them from being losing face.

I don't prejudice any of these females, while just in my own current personal circumstance I have no interest in them and want to avoid to making any contact with anyone of them. In a lot of cultures/societies, it is fine to do so, as I do.

For those married, divorced, widowed or attached etc. males, it is their own choice to decide whether or not to establish their relationship with the females in the similar situation as that of theirs.

I'm sure I make this clear now.

Best regards,
Qiubo David Su

----- Forwarded message -----

From: Qiubo Su (David Su) <qiubosu@gmail.com>

Date: Sun, Jun 5, 2016 at 8:34 AM

Subject: Fwd: Announcement - Qiubo David Su

To:

Dear All,

I purchased my property at 20 Regia Close, Half Moon Bay, Auckland at mid 2006 and since then I have been living in the same property and from time to time with some tenants/flatmates for nearly 10 years so far. There are a total of about 190 tenants/flatmates have ever lived in my place and they came from about 31 different countries across 6 different continents in the world.

Renting isn't my main business, while ICT business is the one and I have been spending the majority of my time every day to build my own ICT business in the same property. My background is Electronics & Microwave Technology engineering in China and Computer & Software engineering in New Zealand. I love ICT, and so keen to build my own ICT business.

I have been a single, a very disciplined person and a very independent individual. I have ever worked as ICT professional for NZ largest Telco organization, NZ largest software company and one of the largest international IT organizations in the world. In China, prior immigrated to NZ, I have been worked as Electronic Engineer and Telco professional for Electronics company, Computer HardDisk manufacturer, Telco system and Telco system testing instruments organizations. So when I build my ICT business, I don't need anyone to help or assist me. When I maintain and innovate my property, fix my car etc., I don't need anyone to help or assist me either, particularly I don't need any of my tenants/flatmates or neighbors to help or assist me, I don't give them any chance to get involved with my ICT business, and don't give them any chance to try to approach me. Independence became my character for many years before I immigrated to NZ.

In these many years of operating my property renting business, I have been very selective for the people who I want to live with. I prefer the tenants/flatmates have similar background as mine (if not, at minimum they need to be nice, tidy & clean, responsible, not mean), don't prefer female to live in my place (due to I don't think ICT is the area the female love), particularly don't prefer female to live in upstairs at the same floor where I live. In so many years, I have always prevent the female tenants/flatmates from approaching me and I have never had any relationship etc. with any female tenants/flatmates who ever lived in my place so far. I'm a very disciplined individual.

If any of my female tenants/flatmates said anything bad about me, e.g. they had relationship with me or I want to attract them etc, don't trust them, ignore them. They're lying for the sake of their own advantages (actually these females have been trying to attract me, to approach me, but I refused them, and they become frustrated and then conspired together to revenge me. they even conspired with the other male flatmates to spread rumors about me, to defame me). Be careful! (if any external females said any similar things bad about me, please don't trust any of them either, ignore all of them completely. actually they try to attract me, to approach me, to spread rumors to the public that they ever had relationship with me, so to restrict me, but they're lying. they're nonsense. i always refuse them)

Moreover my property has been in good condition since I purchased it at mid 2006, and it became in even better condition after i maintained and renovated it in recent a couple of years. The last time I maintained and renovated my property was between prior Xmas 2014 to January 2015, and since then I have never done any major maintenance and renovation tasks on my property (and I don't want to do any of these tasks for anyone else also), while I spent all my time working on building my own ICT businesses (e.g. Cloud Computing, Financial & Accounting, and recently the Computerized Mathematical Modeling etc). If anyone else (e.g. my flatmates, neighbors and some people from some communities) tell you something differently, ignore them, don't trust them at all (sometimes they were well prepared and recorded me when we had conversation, and took some photos on me, but these can prove nothing, just ignore them).

Just FYI and have a great long weekend.

Best regards,
Qiubo David Su